

SYSTEM AND METHOD FOR SPECIFYING VIDEO GAME DATA

Abstract of the Disclosure

A system for providing video game specification data includes a display and a control circuit for causing the display to display an interactive form containing data entry fields for inputting game specification data that specifies characteristics of a video game developed for a particular game platform. This system may be part of a game submission system.